the author's personal library. It is a copy of the original manuscript of the "Treatise on the Art of War," written by Sun Tzu, a Chinese general, during the fifth century B.C. The book is now in the possession of the Chinese government, and is considered one of the most valuable historical documents in the world.

The manuscript is written in Chinese characters, and is accompanied by a short history of the author and his work.

The author, Sun Tzu, was a general in the army of the state of Wu, and is said to have written the treatise during the time of the Chinese emperor Wu-ti. The book is divided into two parts, the first dealing with the art of war, and the second with the principles of government and administration.

The manuscript is now in the possession of the Chinese government, and is considered one of the most valuable historical documents in the world.
